

ABSTRACT

The invention relates to the application of a recombinant of adenovirus vector and human tumor suppressor p53 gene expression cassette for producing the medicine for treating proliferative disease. In particular, the invention relates to the application of a recombinant of adenovirus vector and human tumor suppressor p53 gene expression cassette for producing the medicine for treating scar.

5